

March 23, 2016

PHOTO RELEASE: Speedily learning of logistics career paths at mentoring event

Jessica Lynch (left), director of the Logistics and Industrial Operations staff office (AIR 6.0C), Lana Combs (center) and Jessie Blanton (right) at the AIR 6.0 speed mentoring event. (U.S. Navy photo)

NAVAL AIR SYSTEMS COMMAND, PATUXENT RIVER, Md. — Naval Air Systems Command's (NAVAIR) Logistics and Industrial Operations (AIR 6.0) hosted a speed mentoring event Mar. 16 in Bldg. 401 here.

Approximately 20 mentees from across the AIR 6.0 competency rotated among the mentors for ten-minute sessions during the two-hour event. The 12 mentors included Todd Balazs, deputy assistant commander for AIR 6.0; Roy Harris, director, Aviation Readiness and Resource Analysis department (AIR 6.8); Capt. Brian Hepstall, military director for AIR 6.8; Capt. Eric Schoch, military director, Industrial and Logistics Maintenance Planning and Sustainment department (AIR 6.7) and Darlene Mazzone, technical director, AIR 6.8.