

NAVAIR News Release
NAVAIR Headquarters

Patuxent River, MD

May 10, 2016

NAVAIR showcases systems, services and platforms at Sea-Air-Space Expo

NAVAL AIR SYSTEMS COMMAND, PATUXENT RIVER, Md. — U.S. Navy program managers from several Naval Air Systems Command (NAVAIR) program offices will conduct briefings at Navy League's annual Sea-Air-Space Exposition May 16-18. The exposition takes place at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center, National Harbor, Maryland. NAVAIR briefings at Booth 2327 will include Next Generation Jammer, Additive Manufacturing and command overviews.

WHAT: NAVAIR leaders will showcase their people, products and platforms with a series of videos and presentations highlighting existing and future naval aviation systems, services and platforms at the annual Sea-Air-Space Expo.

WHO: From Rear Adm. Mark Darrah, who leads the Navy's Unmanned Aviation and Weapons Program Executive Office, to Rear Adm. Dean Peters, program executive officer for Air ASW, Assault and Special Mission Programs, NAVAIR leaders will share the latest updates on key naval programs. To view a complete list of speakers, topics and times, NAVAIR Sea Air Space Brief Schedule

WHEN: May 16-18.

WHERE: Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center, National Harbor, Maryland, Booth 2327.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: The annual Sea-Air-Space Exposition is open to active duty, reserve and retired U.S. military personnel, U.S. government employees and contractors, members of Congress and their staffs, invited guests of the Navy League, representatives of exhibiting companies and foreign embassies and Navy League members. The expo is not open to the general public. For more information about the expo, go to <http://www.seaairspace.org/>.