MEDIA ADVISORY: NAVAIR showcases systems, services and platforms at Sea-Air-Space Expo

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL AIR SYSTEMS COMMAND, PATUXENT RIVER, Md. — U.S. Navy representatives from several NAVAIR commands and program offices will conduct briefings at Navy League’s annual Sea-Air-Space Exposition April 9-11. The exposition takes place at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center, National Harbor, Maryland. NAVAIR briefings at Booth 2327 will include maritime surveillance aircraft, precision strike weapons, training systems, additive manufacturing, capabilities based test and evaluation, and other program overviews.

Naval Aviation Enterprise is joining NAVAIR at Booth 2327 again this year.

WHAT: Naval Aviation leaders will showcase their people, products and platforms with a series of videos and presentations highlighting existing and future Naval Aviation systems, services and platforms at the annual Sea-Air-Space Expo.

WHO: From future NAVAIR Commander Rear Adm. Dean Peters, who currently leads the Air Anti-Submarine Warfare, Assault and Special Missions Program Executive Office, to Vice Adm. Mat Winter, program executive officer for the Joint Strike Fighter program, NAVAIR leaders will share the latest updates on key Naval Aviation programs.

To view a complete list of speakers, topics and times, visit NAVAIR’s Sea Air Space Booth Schedule and NAVAIR’s Industry Brief Schedule.

WHEN: April 9-11.

WHERE: Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center, National Harbor, Maryland.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: The annual Sea-Air-Space Exposition is open to active duty, reserve and retired U.S. military personnel, U.S. government employees and contractors, members of Congress and their staffs, invited guests of the Navy League, representatives of exhibiting companies and foreign embassies and Navy League members. The expo is not open to the general public. For more information about the expo, go to http://www.seaairspace.org/.

(UPDATE: The NAVAIR booth schedule has been revised to reflect a rescheduling of the Liz McMichael briefing to 3 p.m. on Monday, April 9, and the Ken Senechal briefing to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, April 10.)