

AIRSPEED YELLOW BELT CORE CLASS

AIRSpeed Yellow Belt training is a one day class consisting of an overview of the Lean Six Sigma (LSS) tools and concepts and uses a simulation as a means to teach and reinforce these ideas. It is intended to give Yellow Belts the LSS background and tools they need to support Black Belts and Green Belts in their projects. The course methodology is delivered as an interactive business simulation. The simulation has the participants assume roles within an organization and apply the Define, Measure, Analyze, Improve, Control improvement methodology and improvement tools on the simulated process. As a team, the class moves a poorly functioning process to higher levels of performance through the use of methods and tools including project chartering, process capability, process mapping, narrowing critical process variables, Pareto charts, histograms, box plots, descriptive statistics, run charts, cause and effect matrix, and developing and implementing pilot solutions.
